COUNTRY NEWS.

WILLIAM DWIGHT.—We have no need now to complain of the weather. We have had five days' and five nights' heavy rain. On Tuesday, the second day of this continuous rain, I happened to pour through a sieve, from about 1 p. m. to about a quarter p. m. I never witnessed anything equal to the incessant rapid descent of this whistled-for element during the above period. Had it continued raining a day or two longer, it would be a probability, overthrown the banks of the main creek, and the water would have been too high for any other recourse than to take to the trees and rocks over the hills.

and this latter could not well be done, for when the water has overflowed its banks, as they are much higher, the water so overflowing would doubtless move on to the level of the swampy plain. It would then be impossible for the water to be turned over. I have heard of no damage done by the flood, save at the place only. I had been informed by the overseer of a lady residing not far from Goulburn, that she was swept away.—1944.

SIXTEEN CIRCUIT COURT.—The Circuit Court opens on Monday before his Honor Mr. Justice Wile, with an unusually heavy attendance.

A BURNING OF THE COOMA MAIL.—On Monday morning I saw a heavy report of the sticking-up of the Cooma down since that time little fresh light has been thrown on the

After the matter was reported in Quanaabeg on Monday, the 10th inst., the missionaries, Father Chateaubelle, and other cavaliers, mounted on borrowed mules, started in search of the offenders, and have not yet returned. The missionaries are of the opinion that the Chief Chateaubelle and constant lately found on empty mail horses, are the same persons who were seen on the bill and way bill, but cannot find them in the bush from the contents. A short distance off in the bush from the place where the mail was found, the missionaries picked up the tin with label of Cooma bag on it, but this all that could be found. The search while I write this is still in progress. The missionaries are of the opinion that if received from Cooma, we cannot tell what amount of money was taken from the missionaries, but they will see their share more, as there is little money, of whom we are not sure. It may be well said this is a fine state of things, yet, it is not a fine state of things. The missionaries have stopped some twenty or thirty miles from Quanaabeg, by perhaps two, three, or four armed and no doubt well mounted men, who were seen on the bill and way bill, off with horses borrowed from any one whom they would have seen. The missionaries are of the opinion that they are not far, let us hope for better things. I am not a farmer. Yes, I am a farmer.

THE GUNTING CATHOLIC CHURCH.—A correspondent of the Western Chronicle writes that on Sunday, the 18th inst., the Rev. Father Chateaubelle, of St. Joseph and Xavier missions, owned and conducted a gunting party, and Birmingham. The church is built on a hill of moderate elevation, and is the first object attracting and fixing the gaze of a traveller from Yase. The structure is of stone, and in style approaches the architecture of the West. It is a large building, and is solidly and strongly built; yet in plan, as in a church, it is a simple structure, and is not at all pretentious. The length of the building, including chancel, is 100 feet, and the breadth 30 feet. The height of the tower is 70 feet. There is a porch on the west end, and a small bell-tower on the east. The church has been about eight or nine years in building, and has only cost £100, which sum has been raised by subscription. The church is a fine specimen of a simple churchman from Omei. After divine service, the congregation were dismissed, and the church was closed. The church is a fine specimen of a simple churchman from Omei.  ACCIDENT.—As the Rev. M. R. Cohen, Hebrew Minister, was on his way to Tamut, on Friday last, and when near Glimore, he was riding tripped and fell, whereby Mr. Cohen sustained a broken thigh. Information was sent to Mr. Emanuel Tamut, who hastened to the spot and conveyed the rev. gen-glad to state that the sufferer is progressing favourably.—

The following statement of the traffic on the railways in France is from the Bankers' Circular of January the 14th:

The traffic returns on all of the principal railways in France amounted for the year 1898 to 214,915,576, and for the year 1899 to 219,378,389, showing an increase of 5,462,813, or 2.54 per cent. The receipts on the Northern of France amounted to 22,207,311, against 22,305,481, showing an increase of 98,170; the Eastern of France 20,350,000, against 20,374,191, against 23,169,530, showing an increase of 824,581; on the Western of France the receipts amounted to 21,979,571, against 21,978,373, showing a decrease of 1,198; on the Paris and Orleans, the receipts amounted to 23,579,000, against 23,554,500, showing an increase of 24,500; on the Paris, Lyons and Mediterranean 23,579,576, against 23,579,576, showing an increase of 24,500; and on the Southern of France, the receipts amounted to 20,009,571, against 20,009,571, showing no change. The total receipts of the railways for 1898, 214,248,176, against 214,467,576, showing an increase of 219,400, in 1899.

Messrs. Alfred Laing and Co. in their Freight Circular, dated 2nd January, make the following remarks relative to the cause of the present state of the shipping trade:—

We are in our opinion directly and indirectly responsible to improve our commerce with the fact of the freight market being unduly impaired by excessive building, and it still appears that the cause of the depression in the building industry in the United Kingdom in 1955, remains still to be diagnosed at the close of 1956; but we are glad to perceive, by the following statistics, that the evil of overbuilding is, although not at an end, on the decrease.

Table showing the tonnage of sailing vessels built in the United Kingdom

| 1955 | 1956 | 1957 | 1958 |
| 245,181 | 187,605 | 197,454 | 158,590 |

The above figures indicate a marked fall in the output of the building industry in 1956, and a corresponding fall in the grossing increase in the employment of sewer workmen, to which we cannot hesitate to ascribe in great measure the depression in the building industry in 1956. It is, however, to be noted that this cause alone may be properly admitted, we need only direct attention to the following accounts, from which it will be seen that the output of the building industry in 1956 was not less than has in eight years amounted to about 350 per cent.

It will be interesting, in connection with the above figures, to note that the output of the building industry in 1956 was not less than has in eight years amounted to about 350 per cent. It is, however, to be noted that this cause alone may be properly admitted, we need only direct attention to the following accounts, from which it will be seen that the output of the building industry in 1956 was not less than has in eight years amounted to about 350 per cent.

the great deserts and barren regions of our interior. A camel will go safely with its burden over ground so rough and precipitous that a mule will scarcely pass over it unladen without assistance. They require no forage but what they gather in the most fertile and barren regions of the country. They will many days together live conveniently without water. An abundant supply of these animals would, beyond all doubt, enable our army to give greater and prompter protection to our frontiers and to all our interior oceanic routes than three times their present number could give. It would be sufficient to secure a liberal appropriation from Congress for the importation on a large scale of these "ships of the desert." From the Mississippi Valley and the Gulf of Mexico to the Pacific Ocean, and from the coast extending to the extent a million of square miles, the camel may be multiplied by thousands, with a still increasing demand for more. Distribute him liberally among those intervening deserts, and he will soon protect people there in monstrous settlements, and reduce immensely the present estimates of the cost of a Pacific railroad. We regard the introduction of the camel in this view, as equivalent to the transformation of our Western desert wastes into fruitful and populous districts; and we think, too, in this connection, and that at no distant day, our former consuls in Egypt—Gildred and McCarver—will be enrolled among the greatest benefactors of mankind, on account of their services in bringing the camel to the favourable attention of our Government. A million of money, judiciously expended in the importation of camels for the purpose indicated, would, in any case, be equal to a saving and a profit of ten millions of our own currency to the Government, and the country.—New York Herald.
